

Motivating Teams and Individuals

A focused and practical half-day workshop brought to you by Arc Theatre.

High performing teams share lots of things in common:

They understand and share the organisation's vision; their leaders lead by example; people are treated as adults and also feel free to get on with the job!

This half-day workshop is highly interactive using a range of practical group exercises including Forum Theatre with professional actors to bring scenarios to life.

Programme objectives:

- what is the DNA of the organisation, what feels like it works and what could be better?
- what do people bring to the team?
- what does success look like?
- aligning team and personal performance

Business benefits:

- clarity of vision and values
- maximising team strengths and roles
- improved individual and personal performance

Who will benefit: managers, team leaders.

Number of delegates: up to 25

"There has been great interest from LMN members in new ways of retaining talent in the IT team, especially at a time of challenge and change. The Arc team impressed the audience at our workshop earlier this year and I am delighted that their contribution is proving effective for members."

Maria Iliu, Head of Business at London Metropolitan Network
